eFiling System

The FLRA's eFiling System currently provides an easy way to electronically file cases with the Authority (the FLRA's three-Member adjudicatory body); the Federal Service Impasses Panel; and the Office of the General Counsel. Using the links below, you may also file Complaints with the FLRA's Inspector General (IG) electronically.

To get started, identify the type of case that you intend to file with the FLRA and click on the appropriate link below. First-time users of the FLRA's eFiling System will be asked to create an account by registering in the system prior to filing a case. Once your account is approved by the FLRA (normally within one business day), you will receive an email notification, and you may proceed with filing your case. Please note that a case is not "filed" within the meaning of any regulatory or statutory time limits until all of the relevant case information requested by the system is completed and submitted. That is, registration in the eFiling System alone will not meet any time limits for filing a case. For filers that have an existing account, the FLRA's eFiling System will allow you to proceed directly to filing your case after logging in.

The Authority's Regulations require any party filing a document with the Authority to serve a copy, including any attachments, on all counsel of record or other designated party representative(s), upon unrepresented parties, and upon any other interested party who has been granted amicus curiae status by the Authority. See 5 C.F.R. § 2429.27(a).

Such service may be accomplished by certified mail, first-class mail, commercial delivery, in-person delivery, or email (but only when the receiving party has agreed to be served by email). The filing party must independently accomplish service by one of the foregoing methods.

You must also file a statement of service indicating the names of the parties and persons that you served, their addresses, the date on which you served them, the nature of the document(s) that you served, and the manner by which you served them (e.g., mail, commercial delivery, in-person, email). Id. § 2429.27(c).

Further, if you are filing documents using the FLRA's eFiling system, then you must certify in the FLRA's eFiling system that you have served copies of the filing, including any attachments, on the individuals listed in § 2429.27(a). Id. § 2429.27(c). You will do this by checking the box above.

Once you have added your attachments and verified that the party representative information is correct, the pleading is ready to be served. To acknowledge that you will serve the pleading, click on the check box in the declaration section after reading the declaration.
